The International Napoleonic Society will hold its fourteenth International Napoleonic Congress in Dublin, Ireland, 11-17 July 2016. Dublin is a great city with incredible history, culture, and culinary opportunities. Though a small country, Ireland has made major contributions to Western civilization and culture. The Congress will be held in Stephen's Green Hibernian Club, which is a world-class venue in the heart of Dublin. Hotel information may be accessed by clicking on the above link. As always, while some meals and receptions may be à la carte, there will be no registration fee.

We anticipate that many papers will concentrate on the role of Ireland during this period. Of course other papers of interest and important new research will also be considered. The official languages will be English and French, though we encourage English presentations, as no translation services will be available. Previous Congresses have been held in Canada, Cuba, Italy, Israel, Georgia, Poland, France, Malta and Russia, and future Congresses are currently planned for France, Norway, St. Helena, the United Kingdom and the United States. These Congresses attract scholars from throughout the world.

We encourage all people interested in this era to attend this Congress, whether or not they wish to give a paper. Plans for the Congress include a tour visits to museums, a Bastille Day reception at the French ambassador's residence and a Saturday trip to Waterford.
